Memo from the G.M.

To: General Service Conference Members
From: Phyllis Halliday, General Manager
Re: Update on A.A.W.S. e-Book Publishing and Distribution

Greetings! There are two items related to our e-book project that I would like to share with you. First, because of an additional review requirement of our Apple digital agreement, our e-book on iTunes was not made available within the same timeframe as the other retail publishers earlier [in December]. Our digital Fourth Edition Big Book was delivered to Apple on Friday, December 13, and it is expected to be available on iTunes by the end of [December]; our other publications will follow accordingly.

The first title in our digital publishing program, Alcoholics Anonymous, (Fourth Edition, English) is now available via Barnes & Noble and Amazon; Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions will be available from all three vendors very shortly. Over the next few months, our entire catalog of A.A.W.S. titles will be offered as e-books through the major third-party vendors for the various platforms and e-reading devices and in the three languages of our General Service Conference.

The second item concerns our iOS 6 A.A. reader app. In a previous communication with you, I stated that our app for e-books (the Big Book and the Twelve and Twelve for certain Apple reading devices) will continue to be available to the Fellowship until further notice. The A.A.W.S. Board met last week and made a decision to discontinue all further sales of our proprietary app, effective immediately. We will continue to support the app for current customers for a period of time – the end date yet to be determined.

As we move forward into 2014 with our digital publishing program, look for future announcements on G.S.O.'s Web site, www.aa.org. As always, we are grateful for your

"Is it time for a meeting?"

A.A. GRAPEVINE featurette

Last year we put out a call for stories about AA and families and over the months, we received many moving submissions. So many of our families are riddled with alcoholism. But what is so wonderful is that AA has incredible Steps and tools to help us repair many of our relationships. In this month's issue, members share about how both AA and alcoholism have touched their families.

"So let each family play together or separately, as much as their circumstances warrant. We are sure God wants us to be happy, joyous and free."

—Bill W., Alcoholics Anonymous

Open Mouth, Insert Tradition 10

Is blasting a particular religion unwelcoming to newcomers?

AA is not allied with any denomination, nor is it opposed to any denomination. Yet, I've noticed that, in meetings, one particular denomination frequently gets mentioned negatively, masked sometimes in ill-advised humor.

I remember reading about Sister Ignatia in AA Comes of Age, and seeing her picture in the center of the book. The early Akron group brought new recruits to the Sister at St. Thomas Hospital and, with Dr. Bob's encouragement, she established a detox in the flower room. She accepted this twelve-stepping alcoholic patriarch's revolutionary new ideas and kept the doors open for members to visit sick and suffering patients, and thus find relief from their cravings. No thought was given to religious affiliation. It was calculated that she and Dr. Bob worked with over 5,000 alcoholics before she passed.

Father Ed Dowling, another AA legend, sought out Bill in the New York clubhouse. He had read the first edition of the Big Book and was struck by the similarity of our Twelve Steps to the Ignatian spiritual exercises. They talked at length about ego deflation as a springboard to a spiritual awakening. Thereafter, Bill sought out Father Ed as a spiritual advisor. Father Ed started a meeting in St. Louis and helped scores of alcoholics discover AA and the 12 Steps. Father Ed Dowling was also the featured speaker and guest at our first international convention in St. Louis.

Bill, Dr. Bob, Sister Ignatia and Father Ed knew it was best not to exclude anyone on the basis of religion, so this AA tradition of cooperation without affiliation was established.

Bill W. borrowed heavily from men of religion when writing the Big Book and the "Twelve and Twelve." He lived what he wrote: that we should be "quick to see where religious people are right" and to "make use of what they offer." Both Bill and Bob encouraged a spirit of cooperation with clergy, recognizing them as a great resource for the referral of new members.

Our Fifth Tradition encourages a wide open-door policy, yet I fear some of the well-meaning shares from ex-members of this particular denomination might render meetings unattractive to newcomers who are still practicing their faith. The (unofficial) saying that "AA is a spiritual program, not a religious program" gets overcooked. Their minds seem to register spirituality versus religion, as if the two were incompatible. For those of us who practice that particular denomination's religious beliefs hand-in-glove with AA's 12 Steps, resentful shares can be intensely discomforting. We sit quietly, however, not wishing to generate controversy, but I believe our silence leads others to join in the bashing, mistakenly interpreting the shared resentments as a universal AA stance. The castigations spread to subsequent sharing and inaccurate dogma gets splashed about our rooms, uncontested.

Many friends of ours, both nonalcoholic and alcoholic, would be most uncomfortable at the negativity shared. Great men and women of religion and other professionals have trusted us and referred thousands of sufferers our way. I wonder if they would continue to refer alcoholics to us if they picked up on the religious attitude, sometimes clothed in humor, expressed by some of our members.

I felt moved to write about this growing threat to our unity, but I know the free flow of sharing should never be stymied at our meetings. We should all trust the Higher Power to continue to grace and guide us, but I would encourage sponsors to handle these resentments of religion in private with their sponsees, using the Steps.

Bill was always diplomatic in his dealings with the professional community. He encouraged us to develop a spirit of cooperation without formally affiliating AA. My prayer is that we can keep AA's doors open, welcome and attractive to all.
